Michael McBride is an intellectual property and patent trial lawyer who focuses on high-stakes, complex patent litigation and patent prosecution matters. His deep technical skills as an electrical engineer represent a powerful asset for his clients.

Mr. McBride has handled patent disputes for more than a decade in venues across the country, including cases involving semiconductor manufacturing and transistor design, flash memory controllers, fiber optic networks, digital video compression and processing, CMOS image sensors, voice codecs, SEPs, and more.

Mr. McBride has also prosecuted patent applications covering computer hardware and software technologies, aerospace technologies, and upstream oil and gas technologies.

Mr. McBride is consistently ranked in The Best Lawyers in America for his expertise in patent litigation and intellectual property litigation. He has been recognized multiple times on the annual Texas Rising Stars list of the state's top lawyers who are 40 and younger and those who have practiced no more than 10 years. Fewer than 2.5 percent of eligible Texas attorneys earn Rising Stars selections each year.

After graduating from The University of Texas School of Law with honors, Mr. McBride served as a law clerk to the Honorable Hayden Head of the United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas.

He has also served as a volunteer municipal court prosecutor for the City of Houston. Prior to attending law school, Mr. McBride worked in the product engineering group for Fujitsu-AMD Semiconductor LLC at its flash memory fabrication facility in Austin, Texas.
